FARM LABOR CONTRACTOR LICENSING

State law requires farm labor contractors in Idaho to be licensed.

This law gives farm workers greater assurance that their wages will be paid because farm labor contractors will be required to post a surety bond. Farm workers also will have the added protection of workers' compensation coverage and the kind of wage, hour and benefit information they need for making good employment decisions. Under this law, all persons performing farm labor contractor activities on behalf of migrant and seasonal farm workers in Idaho must:

- Be licensed by the state and pay an annual licensing fee.
- Post a surety bond to cover unpaid wages.
- Carry auto insurance for all vehicles used in the farm labor contracting business.
- Carry workers' compensation coverage for all employees.
- Provide all employees at the time of hiring full disclosure about the conditions of employment.
