Workforce Trends

Population

Elmore County is Idaho's sixth among the 44 counties in land size. The county's population has shown an ebb and flow over the last decade, and is unchanged since 2006 at 26,018 in 2016. However, 2016 population increased following a three year decline. The population peaked in 2010 at 27,117, then sharply declined to 26,215 the following year. This is a direct result of the U.S. government assigning or reassigning military wings at Mountain Home Air Force Base, which take with them hundreds of airmen and their families when they are reassigned. Commuters heading to Boise are able to enjoy a more rural lifestyle while simultaneously maintaining a similar commute time to people living in Canyon County because traffic congestion is less.

Labor Force & Employment

Elmore County's civilian labor force has also fluctuated over the past decade but shows no increase between 2006 and 2016. Employment increased by 162 in 2016 bringing employment to the highest level since 2010. Elmore County's unemployment rate, however, more than doubled from its 2007 low point of 3.9 percent to the 8.6 percent in 2010. Since then the unemployment rate has steadily decreased to a low of 4.2 percent in 2016. The number of unemployed rapidly increased between 2007 to 2010 before leveling off in 2011 and declining into 2016. Air base personnel are not part of the civilian labor force, but their spouses can be if working or searching for a job.

Elmore County's total covered jobs decreased slightly, 60, 2014 and was 39 jobs below 2005 totals.

Over the decade, educational and health services and manufacturing have posted the largest gains, while government, construction and trade, utilities and transportation have lost over 650 jobs. A major reason for the decrease in the number of government jobs was a result of the Elmore Medical Center going from a county owned entity to the private sector.

Per Capita Income & Employment

Elmore County ranks 26th in per capita income among the 44 counties. The county had a per capita income of $34,851 in 2015, up nearly $1,400 from 2014.

Government continues to be the main job sector, providing 34 percent of total nonfarm employment, due to the presence of the Air Force Base.

While the half of all covered industries saw job declines, average wages increased in most industries, likely due to the layoff of part-time support workers whose duties were absorbed by other workers.
